Andrew Lang Papers

Andrew Lang obtained his PhD in 1996 from the University of Edinburgh for a thesis on George Dempster of Dunnichen, the 18thc Scottish politician and improver. His supervisor was John M. Simpson of the Department of Scottish History. The External Examiner for the thesis was Dr John Brims. After his sudden death in 2001, his widow donated his notes for his thesis to the university. Andrew Lang wrote his thesis, subsequently published by the Edward Mellen Press, as a part-time postgraduate student. He was an architect at the Scottish Office.

The collections consists of a box of 3x5 cards, a pocket file and 37 loose-leaf binders containing photocopies and notes. The numbers given below for the forty-one items have been assigned by the compiler of this list. There are labels on the spines of the loose-leaf binders and these are sometimes used in quotation marks in the list below.
